Welcome

The New Forest National Park is truly unique.

It's a 'world capital' for wildlife with a huge diversity of rare plants and animals – one of the reasons why it was made a National Park in 2005.

A place of outstanding natural beauty, the unique landscape is shaped by the grazing of ponies, cattle and pigs that roam freely. These animals may appear wild, but they are owned by people called commoners. This active, working Forest has been managed by people for centuries.

One of the last places in southern England to offer a sense of wildness and tranquillity, it's a wonderful area to explore on foot, horseback, or by bike.

Indeed William the Conqueror, who set aside the 'New Forest' for hunting more than 900 years ago, would probably recognise much of it today.

Free-roaming animals

When you visit the New Forest one of the first things you will notice is the free-roaming animals. It's rare to travel more than a few miles without coming across these famous Forest residents – including ponies, donkeys, cattle, sheep and pigs.

They are known as 'the architects of the Forest' because it is their grazing that creates the accessible landscape we all enjoy and precious habitats for many rare species.

Please keep your distance from the animals and don't feed or pet them. It's a fineable offence to feed or pet New Forest animals. There's plenty of natural food, and anything else – even carrots – can be dangerous for them. Feeding can also encourage them to rely on humans. They may look friendly but they can bite and kick, especially mares with foals.

The animals have no road sense and wander on the roads day and night. Please pass them wide and slow, and be careful driving, especially when visibility is poor.

Do you love the Forest?

Then please help secure the future of its wildlife, young people and commoners by donating to the New Forest Trust at lovetheforest.org.uk

Care for the Forest

BBQ-free New Forest:

To reduce the risk of devastating wildfires, vast swathes of the New Forest and Dorset are complete no BBQ and fire zones. BBQs, camping stoves or anything with a naked flame are not permitted in car parks or any area of the Forest. Anyone using these items is liable to a fine and prosecution.

Many shops and outlets in and around the New Forest have taken disposable BBQs off sale.

Litter: Your food and litter could harm the wildlife and livestock. Please take your litter home with you to dispose of responsibly.

Birds: To help ground-nesting birds rear their young safely, keep yourself, dogs and ridden horses on the main tracks from the beginning of February to the end of August.

Dogs: To minimise disturbance to wildlife, livestock and other people, please keep dogs under control and visible – if necessary use a lead. Pick up after your dog at all times and take bagged waste home if there's no litter bin.

Forest management: The New Forest is a living, working Forest. Take notice of any warning signs, keep a safe distance from work sites, and keep gates and entrances clear.
